

World Child Cancer Summer Youth Ambassador Program Join us for the Summer!

World Child Cancer USA is searching for self-starting high school and middle school students to work with us this summer! Youth Ambassadors raise awareness of childhood cancer and raise money to help kids with cancer in poorer countries! You can make a difference with your summer break!

The Youth Ambassador Program encourages students to develop their own programs to raise funds for kids with cancer. Based in Denver, we will use online technology to regularly connect with Youth Ambassadors around the country. Join others in helping kids with cancer!

Students who successfully complete the program will receive letters of recommendation as well as credit for community service hours.

World Child Cancer Youth Ambassadors will:

- Serve as Youth Ambassadors of the organization for the length of summer break and actively promote its mission and raise awareness for our work. Youth Ambassadors will receive training and will work closely with staff around the country.
- Raise money for World Child Cancer by creating your own unique fundraiser or working with other Youth Ambassadors on a fundraiser over the course of the summer. Youth Ambassadors are each expected to raise a minimum of $300 to support kids with cancer.
- Promote World Child Cancer's mission online by sharing World Child Cancer posts and engaging in various social media platforms. A private Facebook Group for Youth Ambassadors will be created.
- Spend a minimum of three hours a week on activities including managing your fundraiser and engaging in social media.
- Communicate with staff members and work to meet deadlines.

Applications (attached) are also available at worldchildcancer.us under "Get Involved".

For additional information, contact Niki at Niki@worldchildcancer.us.

For more info on World Child Cancer, go to

- worldchildcancer.us
- Facebook: World Child Cancer USA
- Twitter: @Wchildcancerusa
- Instagram: World Child Cancer USA

Application for World Child Cancer Youth Ambassador Program - Summer 2017

World Child Cancer USA Youth Ambassadors are our volunteer outreach arm and are made up of students across the country who dedicate their voice, time, and support to raise awareness and funds for children with cancer in poorer countries. To be considered for a Youth Ambassador position please complete this application below and return it to niki@worldchildcancer.us

Your Name:

Your Email:

Your Phone Number:

Your Address:

What grade did you just complete?

What social media do you use and what are your "handles"?

How did you hear about World Child Cancer and our Youth Ambassador Program?

Why would you like to be a Youth Ambassador for World Child Cancer?

What skills or attributes do you have that could make you an effective Youth Ambassador?

Our Youth Ambassadors are active in promoting our work on social media. How do you use social media in your daily life and how could you envision promoting World Child Cancer?

Are you able to contribute a minimum of three hours a week for World Child Cancer activities? Can you commit to be a Youth Ambassador all summer? Are you willing to target raising at least $300 to support our programs?

What initial ideas do you have for raising awareness and funds for kids with cancer? Be creative.

Anything you'd like to add?

Please return this application to niki@worldchildcancer.us and we'll respond back within a few days.

We are excited to talk you about your interest in being a World Child Cancer Youth Ambassador! What better way to spend a summer than helping kids with cancer!

Thank you for your interest! Learn more about our work at worldchildcancer.us
We are headquartered at 1031 33rd Street, Denver, CO 80205